Roger Courtemanche

Hello and welcome to Jefferson County Colorado.

We are glad you chose to help celebrate ROCKY MOUNTAIN REGIONAL RODEO 43 with us. The Colorado Gay Rodeo Association is proud to be the oldest continuous-running rodeo on the IGRA circuit.

Events such as this are the result of many great volunteers and many hours of hard work leading up to this weekend. A huge thank you to all the volunteers who work tirelessly to make this weekend a success. The board of directors of CGRA along with our rodeo director Tommy Channel and his team with the rodeo committee have done a tremendous job of producing this weekend's event. A huge thank to all our rodeo officials who volunteer their time, knowledge and experience to assure a safe and fair rodeo competition.

I would like to thank all our great sponsors for their dedication and support of CGRA and RMRR 43 Without your support we could not do what we do. Be sure to note our sponsors both long and short term, and give them any support you can.

A huge congratulations to our Grand Marshal Monique, whom we are very proud to have represent our rodeo and community.

Treasurer
DAVID HILL

In 1984, I attended my first RMRR. Back then we had Wild Cow Riding instead of Steer Riding and we had Wild Cow Milking instead of the current Wild Drag Race. But the fun was still the same. Later that year, I moved to Denver and became involved with the Board of the Directors. It has been a wild ride and continues to be. I hope that you enjoy all of the festivities with Rocky Mountain Regional Rodeo#43 Join in, it is a great family of friends.

Trustee
ROBERT THURTELL

EVENT DESCRIPTIONS

ROUGH STOCK EVENTS

BULL RIDING

The rope is treated with rosin and saddle soap for a sticky grip. The stock contractor places a soft cotton flank rope on the bull to encourage bucking when released. Once tied in, the rider signals to open the chute. They must stay on and in control for six seconds, using one hand to hold on—touching the animal or themselves results in disqualification. Scoring is split: 50% for the rider's skill, 50% for the bull's performance.

STEER RIDING

Steer riding is a beginner event for new cowboys and cowgirls. Riders use approved rigging with a flat braided rope, hand grip, and bell loop around the steer's chest. Steers are less aggressive than bulls, making them ideal for entry-level riders. A soft flank rope encourages bucking. Once tied in, riders signal to open the chute and must ride one-handed—touching the animal or themselves results in disqualification. Scoring is 50% rider, 50% animal. Spurs may be used but must be safe and approved by judges before each ride.

CHUTE DOGGING

This is a fast and skillful event of a Steer verses a Cowboy or Cowgirl. Contestant must lead the Steer from the chute across a 10' line, giving the steer the advantage. Once the judge has whistled the nose of the steer is across, the contestant must use their skill and strength to "dog the steer". This is a traditional safe method to wrestle the steer to the ground, on its side with all four legs clear in the safe direction away from the animal. A times event, the fastest "dog" will win.

ROPING EVENTS

CALF ROPING ON FOOT

It is a great event for new cowboys and cowgirls building confidence and skills in the arena. From the roping box, contestants rope a young calf as it runs into the arena. The loop must pass over the calf's head and catch any part of its body. Once caught, the contestant pulls the slack and releases the rope from their hand to complete the run.

BREAK-AWAY ROPING

Cowboys and Cowgirls compete in this event with their trained hors, and a calf. They tie the end of their rope to their saddle horn with a piece of string. Contestant rides horse out of the roping box, and must throw their loop over the calf head and catch any part of the body, slack pulled from the rope, then the break the string that is attached to the saddle horn breaking and releasing the rope, time is then stopped.

TEAM ROPING

A traditional event composed of a team of two Cowboys and / or Cowgirls and a roping steer. A roping steer is extensively trained in this event. One contestant begins from the "header box" and the other from the "heeler box". Contestants ride their horses out of the roping boxes as the steer is released, the header will throw their ropes loop at the horns of the steer, once caught will "dally" their rope to their saddle horn,

They will turn their horse and the steer in a counter-clockwise motion, Causing the steer's hind end to swing out, so the heeler can throw their loop at the hind legs of the steer. Once the heeler has the loop set, and the steer steps into the loop, they pull slack, "dally" their rope to their saddle horn, back up to contain the steer, and face the steer to stop the time.

SPEED EVENTS

BARREL RACING

Horse and rider compete for the fastest time running a cloverleaf pattern around three barrels set in a triangle. A running start from the alleyway builds momentum before crossing the timer line. Precision is key—each barrel must be circled tightly without being knocked over. A five-second penalty is added for every barrel that falls, and breaking the required pattern results in disqualification. This high-speed event tests agility, control, and the partnership between horse and rider.

FLAG RACING

Horse and rider compete for fastest time running a circular pattern around the arena. A pole is exchanged for barrel number three. A flag is placed in a bucket on the first barrel, the rider must pick up the flag, run the pattern around the pole and stick the flag in the bucket that has been placed on the furthest barrel. A running start is allowed. Disqualification will take place if the horse and rider break the required pattern, miss the flag, miss sticking the flag in the second bucket, or knocks over the second bucket or barrel.

POLE BENDING

Pole Bending is a thrilling test of speed, agility, and precision between horse and rider. In this timed event, the pair races through a zigzag pattern around six equally spaced poles set in a straight line. A running start is allowed, giving the team momentum as they charge toward the first pole. Once the pattern begins, the horse must weave smoothly and tightly between the poles without knocking them over. Each fallen pole adds a five-second penalty to the total time, making both speed and control essential. Breaking or skipping the pattern results in disqualification. Pole Bending showcases the deep connection and communication between horse and rider, rewarding finesse just as much as speed.

CAMP EVENTS

STEER DECO

A fast paced event composed of a team of two, and one steer. First the contestant must bring the steer across a line in the arena, second the contestant must tie a ribbon on the tail of the steer, the first contestant then must remove a rope from the steer's horns as the second contestant that tied the ribbon runs to tag a timer behind the chute which stops the time.

GOAT DRESSING

This fast-paced and entertaining event features a team of two contestants, a lively goat, and a pair of men's brief-style underwear; the teammates must race against the clock to catch the goat, carefully pull the underwear onto its hindquarters, and then sprint back across the finish line, showcasing their speed, coordination, and teamwork in a fun and lighthearted challenge.

WILD DRAG RACE

a team of three and a spirited steer fitted with a halter and lead rope. The team must work seamlessly together: one member leads the steer steadily toward the finish line, another provides crucial support to keep the animal under control, while the contestant dressed in drag prepares for the ultimate challenge—mounting the bucking steer and riding it back across the finish line. This fast-paced event requires teamwork, balance, and bravery, and it never fails to bring excitement and laughter to the crowd. Combining skill, courage, and a whole lot of fun, it's truly a rodeo highlight that showcases both athleticism and showmanship.
